

Ramus Chair

2025

We designed Ramus, our executive comfort task chair, to seamlessly integrate into both home and work environments. Most task chairs are made to be hidden when not in use. We designed Ramus to be seen. In a home setting, it looks and feels more like a lounge chair than a piece of office equipment. In the workplace, it brings an element of residential luxury that makes an office feel warm, inviting, and effortlessly stylish. This duality—of purpose, setting, and experience—is what sets Ramus apart.

Ramus Lounge Chair

2025

We designed Ramus for those who refuse to compromise on beauty, comfort, or craftsmanship. At the heart of Ramus is a stunning architectural structure. The chair's carved solid-wood ribs extend from a sculptural spine, creating a frame that is as visually striking as it is supportive. This minimal yet strong framework serves as the foundation for sumptuous, feather-and-fiber-filled cushions, which appear to float effortlessly within the wooden form. The result is a chair that embraces the user in unparalleled softness and comfort within a surprisingly compact footprint that doesn't dominate the room.
